FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Extreme Weather Fair

(Sedgwick County, Kansas) – Area residents have a great opportunity to learn more about severe weather on Saturday, April 13 from 9 am to 4 pm at the Kansas Coliseum during the annual “Extreme Weather Fair.”

In addition to displays promoting safety products and services, Sedgwick County public safety agencies will be on hand to share information about their services throughout the day. Fire extinguisher demonstrations will be held throughout the day between 9:30 am and 3:30 pm, and scheduled classes will include:

“Ready to Respond” – 9:30 to 10:30 am
K9 Search & Rescue Demo – 11:00 to 11:30 am
Storm Spotter Class – Noon to 2:00 pm
“Ready to Respond” – 2:30 to 3:30 pm

“This is the time of year when Kansans must be most vigilant about severe weather and storm safety,” said Commission Chairman Ben Sciortino. “We hope many County residents will take advantage of the expertise shared by our public safety professionals.”

The Extreme Weather Fair will be held in Pavilion II; admission is free. Call the Kansas Coliseum at 755-1243 for more information.
